AUGUST 1992

Lots to get through this time so I shan't dawdle...

BADGES:

Heavenly badges to be precise. We had these made specially for the recent Heavenly tour. Unfortunately, due to a misapprehension on the part of a person with a small brain in Bradford, they didn't actually turn up till the last two dates of the tour, and we had to resort to various inflammatory acts like locking the doors and hostage-taking to get at least some of our money back. This means that: (A) there's a disproportionate number of people in Brighton who, despite lacking the odd finger or ear, sport a healthy coating of little round badges with butterflies on; and (B) we still have millions left which we're now selling for a paltry 20p each. They come in 6 different colours - yellow, blue, lilac, peach, one that's a bit like the inside of a nectarine, and one that's a bit like the inside of a cat. No green ones. And the butterflies (one per badge) are black in each case, just like in real-life (I have a sad life). Postage is the complicated bit; basically, if you're also ordering a T-shirt or something equally squidgy (hypothetical, until we eventually get round to those Even As We Speak Fun Sponges), you needn't include any extra; but otherwise we'll have to send badges on separately in a small brown envelope in which case we'd like, I guess, 18p for a stamp (for anything up to 20 badges, at a guess). Or 24p for Europe and 57p for the rest of the world. NB. Badges are one-size-fits-all, and non-machine washable. You shouldn't iron the design either, unless you're really bored and have a thing about ironing. And don't mind ruining your badges. Ditto all the records.

SARAH RECORDS NEWSLETTER

Well, relying on NME and Melody Maker for up-to-the-minute info on new releases and inter-band scandal and babies etc. is obviously a bit of a joke, so we were thinking of something along the lines of a quarterly news-sheet - news, gossip, bus-times, visiting hours, heaven knows - what form it finally takes will depend largely on what sort of response we get to this - if millions of you write back, I imagine it will be something fairly lavish and chunky; whereas, if only two of you write, we'll probably come round and tell you in person next time we're passing. I reckon, in all honesty, it will take the form of a photocopied A4 sheet or two. So - if you'd like to receive one of these crucial SARAH artifacts, all you have to do is send us an SAE with "newsletter" written in the top-left hand corner. And we shall place it in a box until the time comes. I suspect that, since it's now August and I said "quarterly", the first one will be out around October. IMPORTANT - since this is all a bit vague, it probably makes sense to put a PERMANENT address on the SAE, e.g. parents' rather than college and so on... unless you're a bit embarrassed by it all and think you'll be disinherited or something... in which case, please write explaining the precise circumstances, and we'll maybe sit-down and have a bit of a re-think/laugh.
